Writing about Math

Even though we don't always know we're doing it, we all use math every day. Think about a time in the last week when you have used mathematics outside of class, and then write about your experience. Were you able to "solve" the problem you encountered? Which mathematical skill or skills did you use?

The TASC Transition curriculum is a collaborative project of the New York State Education Department and the Queens Borough Public Library, supported by funding from the New York State Department of Labor.
