A Message from the President and CEO

Sincerely,

Dennis M. Walcott
President and CEO

Dear Friends,

On Tuesday, June 6, the New York City Council and Mayor Bill de Blasio approved the City's budget for Fiscal Year 2018. This budget includes an additional $30 million in capital funding for critical maintenance and repairs for Queens Library, and marks the third consecutive funding increase for the City's three library systems.

Queens Library also received a total of $10.78 million from individual City Council members who represent Queens, and a $1.4 million baselined annual increase to operate the new Hunters Point Community Library.

When we are able to improve our buildings, more New Yorkers visit, check out materials, attend programs and classes, access opportunity, and strengthen themselves and their communities.

Thank you to Mayor de Blasio, Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito, Finance Chair Julissa Ferreras-Copeland, Majority Leader Jimmy Van Bramer, Library Sub-Committee Chair Andy King, and the members of the New York City Council for once again investing in our City's libraries. I'd also like to thank our partners in DC 37 and Local 1321 for their leadership and support through the budget negotiating process.

Finally, I send my thanks and appreciation to our staff, to the Friends of the Library, and to our tireless library advocates, who attended rallies, wrote letters, sent tweets, and posted virtual sticky notes online, all to make one message clear: that an investment in libraries is an investment in all New Yorkers.

What's Happening?

Don't Miss the Magic and Mind Reading Tour!

Professional magicians Rich Marotta, Steve Dane, and Ulises Beato will entertain everyone with magic and comedy, including sleight-of-hand, mind reading, and more. Come early, grab a good seat, and get ready for some amazing entertainment, at select libraries on Mondays in July and August. A great show for the entire family—you won't believe your eyes! Visit queenslibrary.org for dates, times, and locations.

Congratulations to Our NYC Neighborhood Library Awards Finalists!

We're proud to announce that three of our community libraries—Bayside, Lefferts, and Woodside—have been selected from hundreds of libraries in the city as finalists for the NYC Neighborhood Library Awards! A record-breaking 24,000 New Yorkers nominated their local library for this year's Awards, and our finalists could not have been successful without your support. Learn more about all the 2017 finalists at nyclibraryawards.org.

Elmhurst ALC Symphony Space winner Luis Loli with actor Jeffrey Joseph

Symphony Space Success for Our Adult Learners

Eight Elmhurst Library Adult Learning Center students—Annie Chang, Tung Lung (Tom) Chang, Noor Ul Ain, Claudia Rendon, Luis Loli, Hui Fu Hou (Sister Martina), and Li-Yue Cai—had their creative works chosen by Symphony Space for its All Write! Adult Literacy Program. On May 11th, at a special event, our students' stories and poems were performed by three professional actors, and those same works will be published in an upcoming literary magazine. Congratulations to our student authors, and to instructors Rifat Bhatti and James McMenamin for giving them the training and inspiration to succeed!

Don't Miss the Battle of the Bands!

Our talented lineup of rock bands will bring the house down at the 3rd Annual Battle of the Bands on Thursday, July 27, at the 2,100-seat Colden Auditorium at Queens College's Kupferberg Center for the Arts. This year's contestants will compete for a total of $850 in gift cards and a chance to perform at an upcoming concert at Forest Park! Visit queenslib.org/BattleoftheBands17 to order your tickets and learn more about this year's rockers!

Learn How to Preserve Oral History

Do you want to help save and share the stories of your neighborhood, your family, or your community? Queens Memory will host a public oral history workshop with their Director, Natalie Milbrodt, at the Douglaston/Little Neck Community Library on Thursday, August 24 at 2 p.m. You can learn about the best interview methods, gain some experience performing mock interviews with other attendees, and more. Find out more about this and other Queens Memory events by visiting queensmemory.org. ■

The Everyone Campaign is Here

It was a rainy day on Wednesday, April 26, when we kicked off Queens Library is for Everyone—a campaign about inclusivity and access. The rain didn’t stop Queens Library staff dressed in bright yellow t-shirts from welcoming old and new customers, snapping #QLeveryone selfies, and spreading the word about Library services.

Our mobile library, parked at 104th and Roosevelt in Corona, was the main launch site, before the group moved to the Corona Community Library just a few blocks away. The staff, local residents and even toddlers got in on the fun by wearing buttons and celebrating the Library’s values of Equity, Freedom, Open Access to All, and Lifelong Learning.

At the mobile library, people on their way to work were able to sign up on the spot for Queens Library membership, showing off their cards while posing for photos. The President and CEO of Queens Library,

Dennis Walcott, was on the streets speaking with interested customers. Equipped with a bullhorn, he took the Library’s message to the streets: “Whether it’s for books, services or general information, you are always welcome at Queens Library.”

After the mobile library, President Walcott led the staff to the Corona Community Library at 38-23 104 Street, which was about to host Toddler Time. As Toddler Time’s special guest, he read a story about acceptance to some of Queens Library’s youngest members.

But it didn’t end there. As the day and week went on, there were Everyone group selfies and photos across social media from staff and customers alike, and we still want to see more! Make sure to squeeze in as many people as you can into your selfie, use the #QLeveryone hashtag, and tag three of your friends to challenge them to do the same—so we can spread the word that Queens Library is for Everyone. ■

31 Wonderful Hours at Corona Library!

Our 31-Hour Open House at Corona was a great success!

The Open House, part of the Queens Library is for Everyone campaign, was an opportunity to see the programs and services the Library has to offer.

The Open House started on Friday morning, June 2, when Queens Library President and CEO Dennis M. Walcott spoke to our customers and let them know all the great activities we had scheduled. He then read A Color of His Own during a special Toddler Story Time session. “Already, the library is hustling and bustling. It’s alive with energy,” he said.

From experts talking about community safety and how to help immigrants, to a library “bonfire” where families sang and told stories; from late-night music and dancing to early-morning yoga, and much, much more, there was something for everyone during all 31 hours of the Open House.

You can see more pictures from the 31-Hour Open House by visiting our Facebook and Instagram pages and searching for #QLeveryone, and also at the Queens Library is for Everyone website at QLeveryone.org. ■

Congratulations to our New Chief Operating Officer!

Queens Library is pleased to announce that Lewis Finkelman has been selected to serve as our new Chief Operating Officer and Senior Vice President. Mr. Finkelman has served as Queens Library's General Counsel over the last year-and-a-half. He has previously served as a General Counsel for five different organizations and as a First Deputy Commissioner for two large City agencies—the Department of Citywide Administrative Services and the Department of Correction. In that capacity, he oversaw many diverse areas of those agencies, including Capital Planning and Construction, Human Resources, Information Technology, and Labor Relations. Congratulations, Lew! ■

Welcome to Ozone Park Library!

We were joined by elected officials, library staff, and community members on Friday, May 12 to celebrate the reopening of Ozone Park Community Library!

New York State Senator Joseph Addabbo, NYC Council Member Eric Ulrich, Queens Borough President Melinda Katz, NYS Assemblywoman Stacey Pheffer Amato, former Assembly Member Phil Goldfeder, and Queens Library trustees Maria Concolino and the Honorable Augustus C. Agate cut a yellow ribbon to open the library to the public, and read to first graders from local school PS 316 at a special story time.

The library had been closed for the past year for a renovation project. Its new and improved features include an automated check-in/check-out machine to serve customers faster and more efficiently; a public cyber center; a teen area with five computers and three booths that contain power outlets; an adult area with six computers and five powered reading tables; a children's area with six computers; an Early Learning Center with a play kitchen, toys, and a large mural showing phases of the moon; a larger meeting room—now measuring 540 square feet—with a dedicated storage space; and all-new shelving and furniture throughout the building.

“My father brought me here to get my first library card,” said Senator Addabbo to our guests. “I’m grateful to the team at Queens Library for what they have done here, this total renovation. I’m so appreciative of their work. As many of you know, I do mobile office hours at libraries throughout my district, and I can’t wait to hold my first mobile office hours right here in my hometown.”

“We brought this space into the 21st century so it can serve the residents and the community like never before,” said Council Member Ulrich. “For a kid who grew up four blocks away to have the honor of representing this community, and play a small part in this, makes my job all that more worthwhile.”

“I want to thank the Ozone Park community for sending such great advocates to offices where they can help,” said Queens Borough President Katz. “And to the employees and the volunteers of this library, you really did a lot of great work over the past year, and we want to thank you for that. By investing in libraries, all the elected officials that are standing here right now understand that they are not only investing in brick and mortar, they are investing in our communities.”

The $2.1 million restoration project was generously funded by Senator Addabbo, Council Member Ulrich, and the New York State Education Department. Thanks to them for making the new Ozone Park possible!

Helping the Homeless at Queens Library

Do you or someone you know have questions about housing, homelessness, and other related issues?

Queens Library has teamed up with the New York City Department of Homeless Services (DHS) for our monthly Queens Connections event at Central Library in Jamaica, where DHS staff provide coffee and talk about housing resources and the other services that they offer.

We recently spoke with DHS's Courtney Nelson about Queens Connections and how Queens Library helps DHS help the homeless.

What does the NYC Department of Homeless Services do for New Yorkers?

Our mission is to provide temporary shelter to individuals and families who are experiencing homelessness, and also help them get back to permanent housing as soon as possible. We do this by being compassionate, working with people based on their unique situations, getting them stable, and helping them return to their communities.

How did you decide to create your monthly Queens Connections event at the Library?

In January 2016, Mayor de Blasio decided to change how the City would deal with homelessness. One of these new ways is HOME-STAT (Homeless Outreach & Mobile Engagement Street Action Teams). HOME-STAT helps us reach out to homeless people by working with more partners, like hospitals, libraries, and other community-based organizations and City agencies. HOME-STAT lets us work with libraries to connect at-risk people to our programs and services. People can visit the Queens Connections table each month and learn about housing-related legal services, get information about housing subsidies, tell us about their experience if they're living in a shelter, and more.

What role do you think Queens Library can play in helping the homeless?

In general, libraries have always served as a central location for people in their communities. They are public spaces where folks can come and find free resources, or just spend quality time. We can empower library staff and share our resources with them, and then they can share those resources with patrons. We also know that a lot of people who are at risk, who are in shelters, or who are on the street are coming to Queens Library for a number of reasons, so libraries give us access to a larger audience and a space where we can connect with them.

What advice do you have for homeless New Yorkers and people who are close to being homeless?

Fear and shame can be a big part of being homeless. Fear can also prevent people from tackling their problems before they become homeless. People are sometimes embarrassed, or it can be too much for them to deal with, especially if they are working adults. My advice is try to be proactive, get information during our monthly events or pick up the information that we leave here for library staff. Don't be afraid or embarrassed to ask for these resources—or to ask a librarian for help! If DHS works with Queens Library, and you let people know about the services that exist, then maybe one less person is on the street, or one less family is in a shelter—because they had access to resources and support before they lost their home.

NYC Department of Homeless Services will be at Queens Central Library on July 27, 3-5 p.m. to provide resources and information and answer any questions. ■

Vilma Daza Receives Award for Her Outstanding Service to the Corona Community

On Thursday, May 25, Vilma received the 2017 Sloan Public Service Award from the Fund for the City of New York in honor of her extraordinary career in public service. The awards, given each year since 1973 to six outstanding public servants, are known as “the Nobel Prizes for New York City government employees.”

Vilma Daza receives a portrait from Fund for the City of New York President Mary McCormick, at Corona Community Library.

At a celebration at the Corona Community Library on May 25 with her team, Queens Library staff, and members of the Fund’s selection committee, Queens Library President and CEO Dennis M. Walcott said

Vilma represents the dreams and hopes of many New Yorkers. As a librarian, he said, Vilma has reached beyond Corona Library to build relationships with every home, school, business, and community organization in the neighborhood, doing the kind of outreach and showing the commitment that Queens Library wants for all our communities.

Vilma arrived in the United States from Peru 28 years ago, knowing very little English. She enrolled in an ESOL class at Steinway Community Library, where she later volunteered and was hired as a clerical worker. While in that job, she earned a Master of Library Science degree and became a children’s librarian, and through the years worked her way up to becoming Corona Library’s manager.

In a profile of Vilma that ran in the May 24 issue of The New York Times, the Fund for the City of New York said that Vilma has “made [Corona] library the central educational and resource hub,” attracting more visitors per square foot than any other library in Queens. “Residents line up around the block to register for a wide range of classes; in the summer, programs are offered outdoors in the plaza; and [Vilma] and [her] staff volunteer their time to keep the library open in the morning and evening, beyond regular hours.”

The Fund for the City of New York celebrated Vilma and the other winners at a ceremony at Cooper Union. They also created videos that were shown during the ceremony for all the Sloan Award winners. You can see Vilma’s video at www.fcny.org/fcny/core/sloan/2017. ■

Some of our happy graduates at our May 16 ceremony.

Congratulations to Our ALP Graduates!

On Tuesday, May 16, eighty-nine adult students from Queens Library's Adult Learner Program (ALP) took part in their special graduation ceremony at Flushing Community Library!

The Class of 2017 includes students who earned their high school diplomas through the Library's High School Equivalency (HSE) and National External Diploma programs; Consortium for Workers' Education/Job & Business Academy students; members of the ESOL Home Health Aide and Ready for Business programs; our first Jamaica FEASTS food business training course graduates; and students who completed the OSHA Construction Certification and Security Guard job skills training courses.

"Queens Library's Adult Learner Program improves peoples' lives, opens their eyes to bigger possibilities, and gives them the tools they need to secure a brighter future," said Queens Library Chief Librarian Nick Buron, who shook our graduates' hands and gave them their diplomas. "We congratulate all the students here today for their success."

Over the past year, Queens Library has served nearly 3,500 students participating in English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) classes and over 400 students taking classes to prepare for their HSE exam. Our Job & Business Academy Program has served more than 20,000 people at over 500 technology workshops, over 500 workforce development workshops, almost 120 small business workshops, and 40 job skills training workshops. More than 500 library customers have received job skills training that includes OSHA certification, Home Health Aide instruction, and Security Guard training.

Four graduating students spoke to the gathered friends, family members, and guests who joined us for the ceremony. Hawa Toure, an HSE graduate from our Jeanne Elmezzi Adult Learning Center in Long Island City, came to the U.S. from West Africa. She has now enrolled in classes for a Business Management degree, and nearly completed her first semester. Rocio Venegas, an HSE graduate from the Peninsula Adult Learning Center, decided to get her HSE diploma in order to improve her English and refresh her knowledge. Gloria Alexander, who came to the United States from Grenada, West Indies, took her HSE courses at the Rochdale Adult Learning Center and got her diploma to open up more opportunities for herself in the field of health care. Tress Walker graduated from Jamaica FEASTS and being in the program changed her life.

"It is an honor for me to be here celebrating this day with you," said Tress. "Every journey begins with a single step. Many distinguished people have said this. Your steps led you here today, to this moment when you are graduates, and I applaud you."

"If you want it bad enough, there are no limits on what you can achieve. Yes we can!" said Gloria to loud applause.

Thank you to Queens Library Director of Adult Learning Tara Lannen-Stanton; Adult Learning Center managers Sharonda Amaye-Obu (Central), Gary Beharry (Flushing), Manny Villapol (Jeanne Elmezzi ALC), Barbara Miller (Peninsula), and Lori Rodriguez (Rochdale Village); JBA Assistant Director Shakira Smalls and her staff; and all the Adult Learner Program instructors who guided our students to this successful day! ■

The Queens Library 2017 Annual Gala will take place on Tuesday, October 17, at the Queens Museum. This year's honorees include

Patricia E. Harris

Chief Executive Officer of Bloomberg Philanthropies

Lester W. Young, JR. Ed.D

Regent At Large at The University of the State of New York

Bank of America

---

Patricia E. Harris

As CEO of Bloomberg Philanthropies, the foundation that covers all of Michael R. Bloomberg’s charitable giving, Patricia Harris works across five key program areas—arts, education, environment, government innovation, and public health—to help ensure better, longer lives for the greatest number of people across the nation and the world.

Previously, Harris served as the First Deputy Mayor of the City of New York during the Bloomberg Administration. She is the first woman in New York City’s history to have served in this role, which is the City’s highest appointed position. Before joining the administration in 2002, Harris managed Bloomberg L.P.’s Corporate Communications Department, overseeing its Philanthropy, Public Relations, and Governmental Affairs divisions. Prior to that, she was Vice President for Public Relations at Serino Coyne Advertising. She began her career in public service in 1977 as an Assistant to then-Congressman Ed Koch and, upon Koch’s election as Mayor, served in a number of roles within his Administration, including Executive Director of the City’s Art Commission.

Lester W. Young

Lester W. Young

Lester W. Young, Jr. is serving his third term as Regent At Large, The University of the State of New York. Currently, he co-chairs the Regent’s P-12 Education Committee, and chairs the Regents Workgroup to Improve Outcomes for Boys and Young Men of Color and the Early Childhood Workgroup. Continuing his commitment to service, in 2014, Dr. Young was appointed to the New York State Juvenile Justice Advisory Group.

A career educator, Dr. Young has served as a teacher, guidance counselor, supervisor of special education, principal, Associate Commissioner with the New York State Education Department, and Superintendent of Community School District 13. He also led the first N.Y.C. Office of Youth Development and School Community Services. A recognized educational leader and innovator, he was responsible for establishing some of the more successful high schools and middle schools in New York City and reproducing the nationally recognized Algebra Project and Comer School Development Program.

Dr. Young is a founding member and current Chair of the Adelaide L. Sanford Institute; and co-chairs the Community Advisory Council for Boys and Girls High School. He is a Life Member of the National Alliance of School Black Educators and Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. He has also served on the advisory boards for Eagle Academy High School and the New York Office of the Children’s Defense Fund, the Brooklyn Children’s Museum, and the Bedford Stuyvesant Restoration Corporation. Dr. Young volunteers as a mentor to principals and aspiring leaders throughout New York City. He has been recognized by many local, national education, and civic education organizations for his professional contributions.

Bank of America

Bank of America has been a major supporter of Queens Library for many years. They also work with their clients and communities to promote economic and social progress around the world. Bank of America focuses on environmental sustainability, financial health, workforce development and education, community development, and supporting the economic, social, and cultural life of the places where they live and work. Each year, Bank of America employees and retirees also volunteer in their neighborhoods for thousands of hours and help more than 3,000 charities.

We hope you will join us in October to help us pay tribute to our honorees! For more information about the 2017 Gala, visit www.queenslibrarygala.org ■

Stay Cool

This Summer at Your Local Library!

One of the hardest things about living in New York City is staying cool during the summer. If you don't have air-conditioning in your home or your apartment, especially during a summer heatwave, please visit your community library!

All public libraries in New York City serve as official "cooling centers" during a heat emergency. Cooling centers are places where you can enjoy air-conditioned comfort. They are free and open to the public, even if you are not using their services. You can always call 311 or visit nyc.gov to find the nearest cooling center.

The NYC Office of Emergency Management will let the public know when a heat emergency happens, like an unusually hot day, or several hot days in a row.

You should feel free to use a cooling center during a heat emergency if you have no other cool place to visit, or if you are at risk for heat-related illness.

Everyone is always welcome at Queens Library, but if you need air-conditioning during the summer, we're especially glad to see you!

To check any changes in the status of the air-conditioning at your local library, please visit queenslibrary.org. ■

Free Hotspot Internet for Students Returns This Fall!

Queens Library's ConnectED Library HotSpot program is returning this fall, providing free home Internet service to New York City students during the school year.

Eligible New York City public school students and their families can borrow hotspots from the Library, absolutely free, to access online educational resources at home to help students complete their homework.

The ConnectED Library Hotspot Loan Program is a collaborative effort by New York Public Library, Brooklyn Public Library, Queens Library, and the Department of Education to provide thousands of NYC K-12 students with free Internet access. More than 1 in 5 New York City households do not have home access to high-speed Internet services.

In order to participate in the Library Hotspot Loan Program, customers must be at least 18 years old and have a child in a New York City public school; have no household Internet access at the time of sign-up; and have a valid adult Queens Library card.

Please visit queenslibrary.org this fall to find a hotspot lending library near you. We're happy to help our customers—and their kids—bridge the digital divide! ■

Woodside Library hosted the District 23 Participatory Budgeting Winners announcement.

Thank You for Your Vote!

Queens Library recently asked our amazing customers for help during the New York City Council's participatory budgeting campaign.

Each fiscal year, the New York City Council provides residents of participating Council Districts with the opportunity to vote on how to spend at least $1 million of their districts' capital funds.

Thanks to our customers' votes, over $1.3 million was budgeted for technology, space, and accessibility upgrades at 11 community libraries in six City Council districts throughout Queens.

The projects chosen for funding include improving the library entrance at Astoria Library, expanding the teen meeting space at Woodside Library and outfitting it with technology, creating a new family center at Corona Library, and more. To see all the winning participatory budgeting projects, visit council.nyc.gov/pb/ ### cycle-6-results.

Thank you again to Council Members Jimmy Van Bramer, Julissa Ferreras-Copeland, Costa Constantinides, Elizabeth Crowley, Barry Grodenchik, Karen Koslowitz, and Paul Vallone for making library upgrades available for the participatory budgeting process.

"Our customers ensured that library projects are a priority in their communities," said Queens Library President and CEO Dennis M. Walcott. "They took advantage of the opportunity to advocate for these improvements in the most direct way possible, and proved the power of their voices and their votes. As we continue to ask the Mayor and the City Council to keep investing in all our City's libraries, I am grateful to them for their ongoing support." ■

NYC Council Majority Leader
Jimmy Van Bramer.

Queens Rocks for the Third Time

The Battle of the Bands is back and better than ever. For the third year running, New York bands will be bringing the house down at the 2,100-seat Colden Auditorium at Queens College's Kupferberg Center for the Arts on Thursday, July 27. For those in the audience, that means the chance to see some of Queens' most exciting talent before they hit the big time, in one of the borough's best live music venues. Plus, winners will play at Forest Park in August, so you'll be able to see them again! Visit queenslib.org/battleofthebands17 for more information and for free tickets. ■

Summer meals are here!

Queens Library will be providing free, nutritious summer meals to children. We're pleased to announce that Summer Meals will be at 35 locations, starting June 29 through to September 1. Meals will be served from 1pm to 2pm. Participating community libraries are: Arverne, Astoria, Baisley Park, Bellerose, Briarwood, Broadway, Cambria Heights, Children's Library Discovery Center at the Central Library, East Elmhurst, East Flushing, Elmhurst, Far Rockaway, Flushing, Glendale, Hollis, Langston Hughes, Laurelton, Lefferts, Lefrak City, Long Island City, Ozone Park, Peninsula, Pomonok, Poppenhusen, Queens Village, Richmond Hill, Rochdale Village, Rosedale, Seaside, South Hollis, South Jamaica, St. Albans, Sunnyside, Woodhaven, and Woodside. ■

Creative Aging Classes are a Hit with Older Adults

Older adults in Queens are getting creative. With the introduction of the Creative Aging program, seniors have been flexing their artistic muscles while socializing and learning in a safe and friendly environment. Like a school term, Creative Aging classes are taught over several weeks to improve the learning experience for every participant.

The Creative Aging programs include a variety of art and cultural programs, including watercolor painting, sculpture, quilting, mask making, and art history. “It’s important to keep the minds of older adults active and learning about arts and culture is an amazing way to accomplish this goal”, stated Madlyn Schneider, Coordinator for Older Adult Programs.

“It gave me a relaxing activity, and a way of expressing myself,” said participant Judy Tolan, who completed a watercolor painting class at Bay Terrace. “Karen Fitzgerald is a terrific teacher. She explains things well and has a genuine interest in her students’ artwork. This is absolutely the best workshop I have taken at the library. Painting encouraged me to look at life in a new way.”

Other participants in the photography class, taught by Katherine Bourbeau, had equally positive reactions. “Thank you, thank you, thank you,” said one participant. “The program opened up a whole new world for me! As I am aging, my life is going in new directions. This could be a whole new future for me. I could be the next Grandma Moses of photography for seniors! Thank you so much!” Another participant spoke to the quality of the program: “The presenter was amazing! It was like sitting in a college course. The support staff was friendly, helpful, and always helped us with anything we needed. The amount of material available for our final project was unbelievable!”

Creative Aging programs take place at Bay Terrace, Cambria Heights, Forest Hills, Fresh Meadows, Glen Oaks, Laurelton, Richmond Hill, Rochdale Village, and Sunnyside community libraries. For more information about dates and class topics, visit queenslibrary.org. ■

Delicious bites from Caspanish!

Caspanish: A Multicultural Labor of Love

It all started with a proposal. In 2015, Judy and Keith Cyrus were celebrating their engagement, and soon enough, started planning the wedding. When they started looking into catering companies, the price was too steep and the food just didn't hit the spot. Instead, the couple decided to take matters into their own hands—and into their kitchen.

“At the last minute, we asked ourselves if we could cater ourselves. We were looking at our favorite cuisines—West Indian cuisines for me and Dominican for Judy—and thought, who could do it better than us?” Keith said. And so, after a little experimentation and a lot of grit, Caspanish was born. “Everything pretty naturally, organically, went together, but there was a lot of trial and error. A lot of dishes went in the garbage.”

But that wasn't the case for long. After the wedding, guests were congratulating the newlyweds before asking where they could find the delicious food that was dished up. Interest in their food made Keith and Judy wonder: could they turn their wedding project into something bigger?

As Caspanish started becoming more and more popular with their friends, Judy and Keith started to wonder how they could learn the legal and business aspects of running their own food business. A friend, working in Ridgewood, came across the Jamaica FEASTS program, and encouraged them to apply. Soon after, they learned they were accepted.

Judy and Keith graduated from the Jamaica FEASTS program in April. The program had quickly become important in helping them gain a better understanding of food business operations. “We've had a lot of opportunities, we've met some great people, made some great connections," said Judy. Keith agreed. "Even our son Deion has got the entrepreneurial bug and he wants to have a frozen fruit stand this summer. Access to information, resources, meeting new people, Mr. Walcott—we've met so many people and had access to so many things we wouldn't have had without the Queens Public Library."

When asked if their families are supportive, both laughed. "Yes!" It turns out that even their young son is getting in on the act, and was a key player in the name Caspanish. "When Deion was young he didn't say Spanish, he'd say Caspanish. And the logo—one day he took a picture in a chef's hat, and then we put together our flags—Puerto Rican and Dominican and Trinidadian," Judy said.

So what's next for Caspanish? A food truck is their immediate goal, so that they can grow by taking their food to the people, and a retail restaurant space is farther down the road. Judy has taken on the responsibilities of Caspanish full-time, while Keith also balances the business with his job as a court officer. "That's definitely what we want next," said Keith. "A brick-and-mortar store." Watch this space, everyone—we're sure Caspanish will be a household name in no time. ■

Glen Oaks Celebrated Spring with a Festival!

On May 20, the Glen Oaks community got together for a Spring Festival! More than 1,900 kids and adults turned up for a day of music, scavenger hunts, face painting, henna, animal adventures and plenty more. “It’s been a great way to spend the day,” said one community member. “I’m here with my kids and we’ve all found things to enjoy.” Here are some of our favorite snaps from the day.

Funding for the Glen Oaks Spring Festival was provided by the NYC Neighborhood Library Awards with support from the Stavros Niarchos Foundation and the Charles H. Revson Foundation. ■

The Tiebrary Means Business

On May 17, Queens Library partnered with the Queens Chamber of Commerce to bring the Tiebrary to the 2017 Business Expo at Citi Field. The Tiebrary program, part of the Queens Library Job & Business Academy, was launched last year for job-seeking customers who either didn't own a tie, or didn't realize they needed one until the day of the interview.

The library receives ties through donations, and customers can borrow them for up to 21 days-or wear them in the library if they're participating in a Skype or video interview. The ties are packaged in boxes and accompanied by illustrated instructions for tying a standard half-Windsor knot, as well as a list of interview tips. For the Expo, 45 ties were donated.

"I heard Dennis Walcott speak about this program and immediately thought of our Business Expo as a great opportunity for the Queens business community to get more involved," said Thomas J. Grech, Executive Director of the Queens Chamber of Commerce. "It's so important to support each other in an effort to help get people employed."

"We are grateful to the Chamber for partnering with us to expand one of our most important collections and help our customers succeed in their job searches," said Queens Library President and CEO Dennis M. Walcott. "Our mission is to make it clear to people through programs like the Tiebrary that Queens Library is here for them, no matter their circumstances or background, as they try to improve their lives."

To give back to the Queens community and donate to the Tiebrary, simply mail your gently used necktie or bowtie to: Monique Hector, Manager, Job & Business Academy, 89-11 Merrick Blvd., Jamaica, NY 11432. ■
