

Scene A You are at a restaurant. Your friend ordered an expensive meal. You just had a cup of coffee and soup. She is suggesting you split the bill 50/50. You don't want to do this.	Scene A You are at a restaurant. You don't have a lot of money with you. Convince your friend to split the bill 50/50.	Scene B You are a bank teller. You have a lot of customers. You don't have a lot of time. You need to move to the next customer quickly.
Scene B You are a customer in a bank. You are a little nervous and you ask a lot of questions.	Scene C You are at a restaurant. You want to pay for your friend's meal.	Scene C You are at a restaurant. You want to pay for your friend's meal.
Scene D You need to pay a phone bill, but you don't have the money. Try to borrow money from your friend.	Scene D Your friend always asks for money, but she never pays you back. You aren't sure you should lend the money.	Scene E You are a bank teller. It's your first day. You don't know a lot.
Scene E You are a customer in a bank. You want to be sure you do the right thing, so you ask a lot of questions.	Scene F You are a teenager. You want your parents to buy you new sneakers.	Scene F You are a parent. You don't have a lot of extra money.