Culture Pass Community Programs: Learning Through Art for Children
Presented by Intrepid Sea, Air & Space Museum

Monday, June 17, 4-5pm
South Jamaica, Meeting Room
108-41 Guy R. Brewer Boulevard
Jamaica, NY

“Poof! Life in a Vacuum”
Where does “space” begin? How far away is the moon? Where did the space shuttles go? These questions and more are answered as you discover Intrepid’s role in the space race, the importance of Earth’s atmosphere, and why astronauts need to wear spacesuits. Using a bell jar and vacuum pump, you’ll discover the vacuum of space and its effect on objects.

This program is for children 6-12 years old. Space is limited for all sessions and available first-come, first-served.

Culture Pass is supported by generous funding from The New York Community Trust, Charles H. Revson Foundation, Stavros Niarchos Foundation, and the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs.
