The Library is an independent not-for-profit corporation. It is one of the largest and most innovative libraries in the world and one of the three New York City library systems. The Library consists of a Central Library and other facilities located throughout the County of Queens in the State of New York. For a complete listing of current facilities, please visit the Library’s webpage: https://www.queenslibrary.org/about-us/locations/?view=all

The Library serves 2.4 million Queens residents, with an extensive collection of books, reference materials, periodicals, government documents, video and audiocassettes, records, compact discs, DVDs, and photographs and maps. The Library has a computerized integrated circulation and catalog system, state-of-the-art computer equipment in all community libraries, and the ability to provide information through free Internet access and facsimile machines to the public. The Library offers a wide variety of reading, writing, and literacy programs, and functions as an integral part of the Queens community.

The Library has been a center of learning and community for the residents of Queens for 125 years. The mission of the Library is to provide quality services, resources and lifelong learning opportunities through books and a variety of other formats to meet the informational, educational, cultural and recreational needs and interests of its diverse and changing population.

The Library is a forum for all points of view and adheres to the principles of intellectual freedom as expressed in the Library Bill of Rights formulated by the American Library Association.

The Central Library building was constructed in 1930 and expanded with WPA funds in 1941. It was replaced by a new, more spacious facility in 1966, through the persistent efforts of the Library Director, Harold W. Tucker. The modern, city-owned building at 89-11 Merrick Boulevard, Jamaica, has the distinction among the three city library systems of having the most public services on one floor. The building was renovated and expanded in 1989.

The Central Library, by virtue of its diverse collection, plays a vital role in the Queens Borough Public Library System by providing free educational, informational, cultural, and recreational materials and services to the residents of the entire borough.
The Central Library serves as the reference and research center for the borough. It also serves as the materials back-up center to branches through inter-loan, audio-visual services, and computer services. Finally, it serves as a community library for the residents of Jamaica by offering popular materials to meet their reading interests and needs.

The Queens Public Library, Central Library is located at 89-11 Merrick Boulevard, Jamaica, NY 11432. The Central Library is located in an active community and hosts the system-wide administration. The Central Library has seven day public service and the current operating hours are:

These public service hours are subject to change at the discretion of the Library. Library staff hours typically commence two hours prior to public service times.
