SEE HOW WE CELEBRATED SIX-DAY SERVICE

HONORING DR. KING AND AFRICAN-AMERICAN HISTORY

SPECIAL LUNAR NEW YEAR CONCERTS AND EVENTS

Q&A WITH OUR NEW HIP HOP COORDINATOR RALPH MCDANIELS

6 ROMANTIC READS
Happy New Year from all of us at Queens Library! I hope you and your loved ones had a wonderful holiday season.

I wanted to thank you again for your feedback on our increased hours of service. As you can see from the pictures in this issue, our kick-off to six-day service on November 21 was well attended by your elected officials and your fellow Queens Library customers. Since then, you’ve repeatedly shown your appreciation for more hours, more materials, and more opportunities at every community library in Queens.

We can never thank Mayor Bill de Blasio, Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito, Finance Committee Chair Julissa Ferreras-Copeland, Cultural Affairs and Libraries Committee Chair Jimmy Van Bramer, Subcommittee on Libraries Chair Andy King, and the New York City Council enough for their investment in our city’s libraries. As the New Year begins, it is our goal to continue the gains we’ve made since we received our increased funding, and provide more and better library services, programs, and collections for you.

I also hope you enjoy reading about some of the new staff we have hired over the past few months. They’ve shared their ambitions for serving our customers, and I think you’ll enjoy getting to know them!

January is also a month when many of us make resolutions to improve our health, and I hope you will take advantage of the resources we have available here at Queens Library. See our cover story for more details.

Thank you again for making Queens Library a part of your life, and enjoy the new issue of Queens Library Magazine!

Shakespeare in the New Year
Our Shakespeare in Queens series of staged performances presented by TITAN Theatre Company continues with Antony and Cleopatra on Monday, January 4, at 5:30 p.m. at Queens Library at Woodside and The Comedy of Errors on Monday, February 1 at 5:30 p.m. at Queens Library at Windsor Park. Lenny Banovez, the Artistic Director of TITAN Theatre Company, will also join us for “Talking Shakespeare,” a discussion of the first four plays in our Shakespeare in Queens series—Much Ado About Nothing, Othello, The Merchant of Venice, and Antony and Cleopatra—on Monday, January 11 at 6:00 p.m. at Queens Library at Flushing. For more details, visit queenslibrary.org/shakespeare.

Students Shine a Spotlight on Ridgewood for Queens Memory
Queens Memory has partnered with The Greater Ridgewood Youth Council to document life in Ridgewood and provide training to 19 student-employees who are working with the Youth Council as part of the citywide Work, Learn & Grow Employment Program. As members of the Youth Council’s Partners in Community workgroup, these students will divide into specialized teams to conduct oral history interviews, digitize historic photos and other records of life in Ridgewood, and produce a podcast featuring the stories of Queens residents. They will also participate in Queens Memory events at Ridgewood Community Library on Wednesday, January 27; Saturday, January 30; and Wednesday, February 3, when Ridgewood residents are invited to bring their photos and other memorabilia to the library and have them digitized and saved to a thumb drive to take home. For more information about the Partners in Community workgroup or our Ridgewood Queens Memory events, contact Queens Memory Director Natalie Milbrodt at Nmilbrodt@queenslibrary.org.

Register for Our Free Job Search Help, Computer Training, and Job Placement Programs
Queens Library’s Job & Business Academy and the Consortium for Worker Education’s Jobs to Build On program have partnered to bring free job-search help, technology training, and job-placement services to our customers at six community libraries. Classes start the week of Monday, January 18, but you must preregister in person beforehand, beginning on Monday, January 11. During registration, you will also meet the Employment Counselors and Job Placement Specialists who will help you prepare to find a job. For registration dates, times, and locations, please visit http://qnslib.org/W1HBR.

Learning about Life in China
China Today is an eight-month-long series of cultural programs that offers our customers a glimpse of life in modern-day China and a chance to learn about Chinese cultural heritage through various artistic events. These include a photography exhibit of vibrant moments of everyday life in China, currently on display in the first-floor lobby of Central Library and available for viewing until Wednesday, January 20. On Friday, January 22 the exhibit will move to Queens Library at Flushing. On Sunday, January 31 the exhibit will officially open at Flushing, and several artists and scholars will join us for a Traditional Folk Art Festival from 12:30-4:30 p.m. You can visit our website for more information about our upcoming China Today events.
Queens Library Celebrates African-American History

January and February are important months in American culture—and every year Queens Library is proud to devote several days of programming to honoring the achievements of African Americans and the legacy of one of America’s greatest leaders.

First, as always, Queens Library will be closed on Monday, January 18 for the federal holiday commemorating the life of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. In the days and weeks before and after the holiday, we will hold events for customers of all ages celebrating Dr. King’s life with songs, readings, reminiscences, and discussions of how all Americans can honor Dr. King’s legacy by participating in a day of service to help those less fortunate. Central Library will hold a celebration for children age 12 and under and their families on Saturday, January 16; Linda Humes of YAFFA Productions will present a dramatic tribute to Dr. King at East Elmhurst Community Library on Saturday, January 23; and David Mills will present Keeping the Dream Alive, a portrayal of Dr. King’s life and legacy, at Pomonok Community Library on Saturday, January 30.

In February, Queens Library will mark African American History Month and honor the contributions of African Americans to our society with special educational events, celebrations of African-American achievements in arts and literature, stories of the civil rights movement, and more.

The Xoregos Performance Company will present one-act plays depicting African-American life in the 1920s and ‘30s at Langston Hughes Community Library on Saturday, February 13 and at Flushing Community Library on Sunday, February 21. Richard Hourahan of Queens Historical Society will talk about the Underground Railroad in Manhattan and Queens and early African-American churches in Queens at Rochdale Village Community Library on Monday, February 22. Cultural Caravan Productions will present Tracy Viergela Pierre’s one-woman show, Slave Be Still, at Douglaston/Little Neck Community Library on Saturday, February 27.

One of our signature African American History Month events will also take place at Langston Hughes Community Library on February 13. The library will host the 31st annual celebration honoring the life and works of its namesake, the great poet laureate of Harlem and African-American life and culture. The all-day event starts at 11:00 a.m. with a screening of the documentary film Langston Hughes: The Dream Keeper (1988) by St. Clair Bourne, and will include live music, a performance by the Rod Rodgers Dance Company, and “Harlem River Stories,” a presentation of plays and poems from the Harlem Renaissance.

These are just some of our free events honoring Dr. Martin Luther King and African American History Month, and more information about them and many others can be found at queenslibrary.org/events.

Get Healthy in 2016 with Help from Queens Library!

It’s a brand-new year, and many of us use this occasion to make resolutions to improve our lives. According to a Nielsen survey, the top two New Year’s resolutions for 2015 were “stay fit and healthy” and “lose weight.” And we doubt they will change for 2016!

Whether you’re looking for in-depth medical information, hoping to find free exercise programs, or trying to make sense of your healthcare options, Queens Library is here to help you get the tools you need to live a healthier life in the New Year and beyond.
Navigate the Healthcare Marketplace

Do you need access to healthcare? Since the Health Insurance Marketplace became a reality in October 2013, millions of people have gone to the federal and New York State websites (HealthCare.gov and nystateofhealth.ny.gov) to sign up for affordable healthcare for themselves and their families.

People who don’t have health insurance or who want to change their coverage can sign up for new or different insurance until January 31, 2016. (Qualified individuals can sign up for or change coverage or enroll in Medicare or Medicaid past that date). The choices are many and can be confusing. You can get one-on-one help navigating the many health insurance options available to you at these Queens Library locations:

Central Library - Mondays, January 4-February 8 (except 1/18), 10:00 a.m.- 1:00 p.m. (English); Thursdays, January 7-February 11, 10:00 a.m.- 2:00 p.m. (English, Hindi, and Bengali)

Corona Community Library - Tuesdays, January 5-February 2, 1:00- 5:00 p.m.; Fridays, January 8-February 12, 11:00 a.m.- 5:00 p.m. (English and Spanish)

Jackson Heights Community Library - Tuesdays, January 5-February 9, 2:00-5:00 p.m. (English, Hindi, and Bengali)

Woodside Community Library - Thursdays, January 7-February 25, 1:00-5:00 p.m. (English)

Get in Shape for Free!

It’s never been easier to get a great workout, at no cost and in your own neighborhood!

We offer free classes in different disciplines like Zumba, yoga, aerobics, and more at several of our community libraries. These classes are geared to customers of all ages and levels of experience, and we even have programs especially designed for older adults.

Our fitness classes are taught by expert instructors, and many of the classes are developed by Shape Up NYC, a citywide program run by NYC Parks in partnership with NYC Service, Equinox, and Empire Blue Cross Blue Shield.

All you need is a towel or yoga mat, a bottle of water, comfortable clothes, and your desire to get in shape. Try to come early, though, because space is limited, and participation is first come, first served.

Help the Whole City Get Healthy!

The New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (NYC Health) is revising its long-standing Take Care New York health policy agenda, which periodically identifies 10 top priorities for creating healthier communities. In 2016, the representatives of NYC Health want to meet with New Yorkers to learn what they think the new priorities should be to improve the health of all New Yorkers by 2020.

Queens Library is proud to partner with NYC Health to host these forums so our customers can share their most important health concerns directly with City health officials. See the schedule below for details.

Queens Library’s Community Health staff listen carefully to customer requests and feedback and use this information to develop our free health programs. Requests for information and resources on cancer, diabetes, and sexual health currently top the list.

You can always see what programs we’re offering on these health topics—along with checking out our exercise classes and programs on healthy eating, meditation, stress reduction, and more—by visiting queenslibrary.org/services/health-info/healthlink/healthlink-events.

“Customer feedback is so important to the health programs we provide,” says Tamara Michel, M.P.H., Queens Library’s Community Health Coordinator. “We can’t wait to hear more from customers in 2016 about the information and guidance they need. New York City needs that feedback, too, which is why we hope to see everyone at the TCNY Community Health Forums!”

If you’d like to participate in the development of our health information programs, please feel free to contact Tamara Michel at tmichel@queenslibrary.org.

Queens Library also reminds you that the information and resources we provide should not take the place of medical care from a dedicated health professional and that you should always consult your doctor or healthcare provider before undertaking any exercise, nutrition, or health-improvement program.

TCNY Forums: Speak Up for Community Health!

We hope you will join us to share your health priorities with NYC Health on one of the following dates:

Six-Day Service IS HERE!

Saturday, November 21 was the beginning of six days of service at every Queens Library location! We celebrated with a great lineup of programs, and hosted over 32,000 customers and several of our elected officials that day.

Thank you to the members of our community, elected officials, and library staff who joined the celebration. Here are some pictures taken on that landmark day!

Meet Our New Librarians!

Thanks to the historic investment made by Mayor de Blasio, Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito, Finance Committee Chair Julissa Ferreras-Copeland, Cultural Affairs and Libraries Committee Chair Jimmy Van Bramer, Subcommittee on Libraries Chair Andy King, and the New York City Council, Queens Library was able to welcome new librarians to our staff this fall. We’ve asked some of them to share their experiences so far and their thoughts about their new careers at Queens Library!

Meet Our New Librarians!

Rebecca Rubenstein, Adult Librarian, Queens Library at Ridgewood

If you could impact one person in one way during your time at Queens Library, what would you want your impact to be?

“I would like to broaden understanding of what the library has to offer in terms of continuous learning. Whether it’s discovering more about the research databases available on our website or taking yoga classes at the library, there is so much to explore!”

Red Coffey, Senior General Librarian, Queens Library at Flushing

If you could say something to Mayor De Blasio and the New York City Council about providing us with the funding to bring you to Queens Library, what would you say?

“Hi, Mr. Mayor and elected officials. Thanks for changing my life! I promise I won’t biff my big break! But more importantly, when you fund libraries, you’re expressing a lot of faith in the people of New York to use those resources and choose their own destinies.

“The freedom to read inherent in libraries generates a lot of good things that we can measure, like student success, better health, and employment, but also things we would have a hard time quantifying, like a general respect for the diversity of ideas and cultures that exist in New York, ingenuity fueled by skills learned, and compassion grown by contemplating other perspectives. Putting your money into strengthening a community’s freedom to read and to explore ideas is the best way to make a lasting difference, and I’m really impressed that you all recognize that!”
Shay Ramsey, Children’s Librarian, Queens Library at Lefferts

What do you hope to accomplish during your time at Queens Library?

“Of all the things I hope to accomplish here, one of the biggest is helping children discover joy in reading. Often, because of curricular restraints, children are required to read things they may not enjoy, and, as a result, they may think of reading as a chore. I hope that I can change that perception in as many children as possible.”

Thomas Maxheimer, Assistant Community Library Manager, Queens Library at Hillcrest

Do you have an interesting story to share so far about your time here?

“One particularly meaningful interaction took place with a customer who had started to ask a reference question a couple of times, but left abruptly. When I saw him approach again on a subsequent day, I came out from behind the Reference Desk and just started a conversation. He was quite nervous, and indicated that he was looking for something to read, but had no idea what it would be. He was intimidated by being in the library because he didn’t understand how it worked. He was very anxious about the fee schedule and when and how he should return items. He said he had very limited funds and could not afford fines.

“I knew I needed to take this interaction very slowly and carefully as to not overwhelm him, which I felt might have happened on his previous visits. I decided to start from the beginning and explain the purpose of the library, and gave him a brief tour of the building. I let him have some time alone to browse while I printed out the fee schedule and the ‘using your library card’ information. I underlined the key points, and we sat at a table and went through them step by step.

“He left with a book, and he vigorously shook my hand and said he was very excited to have this amazing resource available to him. He said several times that he appreciated me taking the extra time to help him, and he knew I must have been busy doing other things. He began to leave and then came back to thank me again, two more times! I could see this customer’s genuine gratitude in his smile and manner.

“This interaction, to me, is the essence of librarianship: assessing the customer’s specific needs, keeping aware of sensitivities, identifying barriers to access, and connecting them with information or services they are seeking in a way that is useful to them.”

Erica Anthony, Children’s Librarian, Queens Library at Queens Village

What excites you the most about working here?

“I love the diversity of the communities and the ability to make a positive difference. As for the library system itself, I love my coworkers. Everyone has been wonderful. Queens Library offers a positive atmosphere and it shows. It is exciting that there is fluidity among the branches and room for growth. That was initially and still is important to me.”
We’re pleased to announce that legendary DJ, VJ, producer, and hip hop pioneer “Uncle” Ralph McDaniels has joined Queens Library as our first Hip Hop Coordinator!

Ralph answered a few quick questions for us about his new role, which books you should pick up to learn more about hip hop history, and more!

You grew up in Brooklyn and Queens. What role did Queens Library play in your life?

I visited the Central Library in Jamaica and the Queens Village branch the most as a teen. It was a place I could do research as well as socialize. In the ’80s, I helped build a nightclub called Encore on Merrick Boulevard—exactly where the Central Library’s Teen section is now.

What are some of your plans for your new role as Hip Hop Coordinator? And what types of events do you want to develop for the Queens community?

I want to create a Queens Hip Hop Timeline that represents both the entire borough and all the elements of hip hop: DJing, B-Boying (dance), MCing, Graph (also known as graffiti), and Knowledge.

Our first events were in December and they were very successful. We welcomed Queens hip hop pioneer Dr. Glenn Toby, graph artist Chief 69, the best step masters from the most prestigious fraternities and sororities, and the one and only Darryl “DMC” McDaniels!

For the future, I’d like to develop beatboxing workshops, graph art exhibits, more celebrity and hip-hop pioneer lectures, question-and-answer sessions with hip-hop authors, and much more.

If there’s anyone who’s qualified to answer this question, it’s you—who are the three greatest hip-hop artists from Queens? And what are the three greatest hip-hop albums of all time?

Queens, Brooklyn, and Staten Island represented—New York truly is the birthplace of hip hop! Speaking of which, you’ve been a part of hip hop since its birth 40 years ago. What’s the most surprising difference between hip hop then and now?

Forty years ago, we did it for fun, but now most people do it for money, then for the culture.

Can you recommend any books or movies for people who want to learn more about hip hop and its history?

For books, I’d recommend The Gospel of Hip Hop by KRS-One; The Big Payback: The History of the Business of Hip-Hop by Dan Charnas; and Can’t Stop Won’t Stop: A History of the Hip-Hop Generation by Jeff Chang. Krush Groove (1985) and Wild Style (1983) are two great movies showing the early days of hip hop, and Juice (1992) is a classic where the story, soundtrack, and actors all connect and capture a moment in history.

How would you describe hip hop for people who are unfamiliar with it? What do you think is most important about hip hop?

Hip hop is the most popular cultural phenomenon of the past 30 years, because it reaches and inspires all cultures, all over the world, through music and dance.
Lunar New Year starts on Monday, February 8. It’s one of our city’s most important holidays, with celebrations throughout the five boroughs and a grand parade and festival held in Chinatown in Manhattan. Mayor De Blasio has even declared the day a school holiday for the first time!

Queens Library has several events planned before and after February 8 to celebrate the Year of the Monkey. Here are just a few!

On Saturday, February 6, from 2:00-5:00 p.m., Queens Memory and the Forest Hills Asian Association will partner to “Celebrate the Asian-American Community in Queens” at Forest Hills Community Library. Queens residents are invited to bring their memories, stories, photographs, and other materials that help document the history of Queens’s Asian-American communities—including memorabilia from past Lunar New Years—to share with the Queens Memory team and have them recorded or digitized for free and saved to a thumb drive they can take home.

On Sunday, February 14, at 2:00 p.m., the CBA Cultural & Arts Center will join us at Flushing Community Library and present special musical works and dramatic performances. The Center is dedicated to the development and preservation of traditional Chinese arts in a spirit of exchange with other cultures.

It’s an all-day multicultural celebration at Flushing Community Library on Saturday, February 20 from 10:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., with Chinese and Korean music, arts, and food. Our guests will learn how to prepare Korean sweets; see a demonstration of Chinese seal carving with Master Mingliang Lu; and enjoy the music of Korean-born singer, storyteller, artist, and educator Soh Young Lee-Segredo and the Ba Ban Chinese Music Society of New York.

The Ba Ban Chinese Music Society will join us again at Flushing Library on Sunday, February 28, at 2:00 p.m., and guide their audience on a musical journey “Along the Yangtze River,” demonstrating how Chinese history, art, and civilization developed along the southern banks of Asia’s longest waterway.

All of these events are free and open to the public. For more information about them and our other Lunar New Year celebrations, visit queenslibrary.org/events.
Eat, Drink, and Be Literary! Save the Dates for Our Book Salons

“Queens Library Presents” is a new series of literary salons and other community-based literary events designed to bring our programs out of library buildings and into Queens communities. Our first salon, “An Evening with Jelani Cobb,” was a wonderful success. Almost 80 people joined us at Manducatis Rustica Restaurant in Long Island City for an evening of conversation with the noted author and professor, and we hope you will come to our upcoming salons, which will prove to be just as interesting!

On Tuesday, January 19, at 6:30 p.m., author Ursula Renée and her colleagues from the Romance Writers of America - New York City will present “The Diversity of Romance,” an evening that will prove that romantic fiction comes in all cultures, sexual orientations, and heat levels, from chaste to spicy!

And on Wednesday, February 10, at 6:30 p.m., author Cecily Wong will read from her compelling debut novel, Diamond Head, the story of three generations of Chinese women whose lives are bound together by the “red string of fate.” Wong’s work has appeared in The Wall Street Journal, Los Angeles Review of Books, Self Magazine, and other publications.

Like our first salon, both of these will be held at Manducatis Rustica, 46-35 Vernon Boulevard in Long Island City. Guests are welcome simply to attend the event, or to arrive early and/or stay late for cocktails, food, and conversation at the cash bar and excellent tables of one of Long Island City’s best dinner venues.

Tickets for the salon are only $10 (drinks and dinner not included). Reserve your seats today at queenslib.org/literaryevents2016.

In the Mood for Love? Staffers Share Their Favorite Romantic Reads

“After the War Is Over” is a novel by Jennifer Robson set in England before and after World War I. It involves love, women’s rights, and an interesting historical background, all in balanced proportions. It’s an enjoyable read.”

— Lubomira Kierkosz Assistant Community Library Manager, Queens Library at Glendale

“My favorite romantic story has to be Pride and Prejudice. The clever banter, misunderstandings, and country dances—nobody does it better than Jane Austen.”

— Kamaria Nurse Senior Librarian, Young Adult Division, Central Library

“Anything in the Bridgerton series by Julia Quinn and the Wallflowers series by Lisa Kleypas. The former is set in early 19th century England, and it’s about the eight Bridgerton siblings. Each sibling gets their own book, and each is amazing. I think the heroes and heroines are well matched, and I believe the relationship in each one. I also love how each book is based on a particular romance trope, but the stories don’t feel clichéd or boring.

In Lisa Kleypas’s series, four wallflowers in Victorian-era London, tired of being ignored at balls, decide to band together and find each other husbands. Of course, they all end up falling for the ‘wrong men.’ The heroines are smart, opinionated, strong women, and the heroes are alpha males who aren’t afraid to admit when they are wrong.

“I have re-read both these book series again and again—they’re great stories, and I never get tired of them!”

— Esther Petrushka Children’s Librarian Queens Library at Corona

“I recently read The Brief Wondrous Life of Oscar Wao by Junot Diaz, which won the 2008 Pulitzer Prize in Fiction, and was deeply moved by it. The protagonist, Oscar de León, of Patterson, New Jersey, is a true romantic—a 300-pound, fantasy game-loving, fiction-writing misfit who is determined to experience love at any cost. His mother is an immigrant from the Dominican Republic who has also been battered by love, and Dominican culture and history figure prominently in the novel. It’s a beautiful book.

“My other pick is Americanah by Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, which tells the story Ifemelu and Obinze, who fall in love when they meet as teens in Nigeria and whose love is tested when she goes to study in the United States and he later goes to live and work in England. Time, distance, painful experiences, and difficult choices change them both in ways few loves could survive. Does theirs? Read the book and find out!”

— Gini Kopecky Wallace Editor, Marketing & Communications Department, Central Library
Books Make the Best Gifts!
Our #GivingTuesday Launch to the Year-End Buy A Book Campaign

Queens Library Foundation held its #GivingTuesday Kick-Off Celebration at Briarwood Community Library on Tuesday, December 1, the International Day of Generosity. Queens Library used the occasion to launch its Buy A Book campaign, which ran through December at libraries across Queens to raise funds to add more books to our collections. Last year, Queens Library circulated 13.5 million books and other materials!

Attendees enjoyed the company of community and library leaders while hanging ornaments on the Holiday Giving Tree or placing Hanukkah gift boxes at the menorah. All came together to support Queens Library and show their gratitude for the wide array of resources the Library provides each day to thousands of patrons.

Thank you to all of our wonderful and generous 2015 donors! We look forward to many more reasons to celebrate in 2016.

Show Your Library Love!

February is officially Library Lovers Month, the perfect time to show your appreciation for libraries of all kinds!

Queens Library was very fortunate to have so many of our customers share their library love in December by nominating their local libraries for the NYC Neighborhood Library Awards. The 10 finalists for the awards will be announced in March, and we can’t wait to see which of our community libraries make it one step closer to the $20,000 grand prize!

If you’re looking for more ways to demonstrate your love of libraries in February, we have a few suggestions:

Volunteer. We’re always looking for new volunteers who are willing to contribute their time and talents to teaching others, helping out at their neighborhood library, or participating in community outreach on our behalf. Visit queenslibrary.org/support-the-library/volunteer to find available projects and get involved.

Recruit Card Holders. If you have friends or family who still don’t have a Queens Library card, encourage them to sign up for one this month. And if they’re not aware of all the great services available to them with a library card—from eBooks, Google tablets, and mobile hotspots to downloadable music and streaming movies—be sure to let them know!

Become a Friend. Our Friends of the Library groups help us in so many ways—from advocacy, fundraising drives, and programming to advising us on how we can better serve their communities. If you want to learn more about joining your library’s Friends group—or if you’re interested in starting one—email Camille T. Barrett, Assistant Director of Government and Community Affairs, at cbarrett@queenslibrary.org.

Donate. Your tax-deductible gift to us via the Queens Library Foundation is always greatly appreciated. You can support the Library’s collections and help inspire a love of reading by participating in our Buy A Book program, or you can make a contribution that will go to funding programs and services throughout the Queens Library system. Visit foundation.queenslibrary.org to learn more.

Visit Us! We’re always happy to see and serve you at your neighborhood library, where you can bring your kids to storytime, use our computers, find a quiet place to work or read, ask a librarian a question, see a movie, attend a live performance, and more! You might even try to visit some of the 62 Queens Library locations you haven’t seen yet, and get a good look at different parts of your borough in the bargain. Be prepared to fall in love with Queens Library all over again!
